REQUIEM REQUEST

When families lose a loved one, a requiem service is performed 40 days after the loss (called a “Karasoonk”). A family will request this as close to the 40th day.

Many times people will also request an annual requiem service honoring the past family member(s). Notice is given to the priest about a week or more in advance.

This is a voluntary donation to the church for the priest to perform a service for the repose of souls.
